Barclay Street Real Estate: Celebrating 10 Years and Counting!

CALGARY AB, CANADA (August 6, 2014) — Barclay Street Real Estate is celebrating its 10th anniversary carrying the Barclay Street name. Having worked under other names in the past, the team members at Barclay Street have supported the Alberta market for over 40 years, providing expert advice to local markets. Why the name change ten years ago? Barclay Street saw this as an opportunity to demonstrate its deep roots and commitment to the communities it serves, resulting in ten years of continued growth and support within Alberta.

An amazing decade, Barclay Street has seen its team double in size, having added a property management division on top of its commercial real estate brokerage. The company has also opened two new offices in Edmonton and southeast Calgary and broadened its global presence by joining the international commercial real estate organization, TCN Worldwide. As part of TCN Worldwide, Barclay Street can service clients in over 200 markets while still providing local expertise through a consortium of independent commercial real estate firms.

As David Wallach, Barclay Street's President & Broker, puts it, "We are very proud of the growth we've experienced over the past ten years. While in business for 40 years, our aligning with the Barclay Street name has seen our growth focusing on providing leadership to our clients, raising the industry's professional standards, and providing factual market advice, allowing our clients to make educated business decisions."

By following its core values and focusing on the communities it serves, Barclay Street has become a prominent member of both the Calgary and Edmonton communities, often seen supporting events such as Calgary's Sled Island, Heart & Stroke's Big Bike Ride and various sports leagues and youth organizations.

"We look forward to many more decades of providing support, guidance, and innovation within commercial real estate, property management, and, of course, the community as a whole," Wallach states.
